Made My Life Worth Living

"I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me," writes Mrs. L. Dunlap, of Oak Grove, Mich. "I have suffered with pain in my back and under my shoulder blades for a number of years, also with a poor appetite and constipation. I tried all of the remedies that I heard of, but got no relief. Finally a friend told me to try Chamberlain's Tablets and I did. I got a bottle of them and they soon helped my stomach. By their gentle action my bowels became more regular. Today I feel like a new woman. I am able to do all the work I wish to do and I am no longer a sufferer."

CRYSTAL SHOWER NEW

IDEA SO GOOD THAT IT AT ONCE "CAUGHT ON"

Form of Showing Affection for Future Bride is an Excellent One—Accompanying Luncheon May Be Appropriately Served.

Glass is a shower that is now and most welcome. It not only includes the ordinary glass furnishings of the dining room, closet and sideboard, but dozens of useful things for the kitchen, many of which were unknown ten years ago.

This is called a crystal shower. Invitations might be written on glass and they might invite the prospective guests to a crystal luncheon on a certain day and date. A postscript, which is, of course, omitted on the invitation card of the future bride, announces a crystal (glass) shower to follow the luncheon and invites each guest to send in advance of the date any crystal contribution which she wishes to make, ticketed with her name.

Naturally, glass appointments are used as much as possible for the luncheon table setting. Every household boasts a certain number of these crystal appointments in the way of flower bowls, candlesticks, side dishes, saucers and the like. All the remainder which is necessary to carry out the effect can be added from the cheap glass goods in the ten-cent stores. For the centerpiece have the glass chalice of Cinderella filled with candles or flowers.

At each cover have a place card, on which is written, together with the name of the guest, some allusion to or proverb concerning glass which the guest is required to read aloud and complete or amplify.

For instance, the word "Houses" might be amplified into the proverb about people who live in glass houses throwing stones. Or the guest can be called on to say who was described as "The glass of fashion," or whence we have the saying "Through a glass darkly." All those who answer the glass questions successfully might draw for a prize in the shape of a good hand-mirror.

WALKING COSTUME

Navy blue ribbed serge is chosen here. The skirt is a plain well-fitting shape, cut a convenient walking length.

The coat is a soft-fitting and has cut-away fronts which fasten below the material-faced revers; satin is used for the collar.

Hat of coarse straw, trimmed with roses and an aigrette.

Materials required: 4 1/2 yards serge 48 inches wide, 1/4 yard satin for collar, 4 yards silk or satin for lining coat, 3 buttons.

Wired sleeves.

Paquin makes a specialty of designing attractive gowns for the young girl.

A wonderfully lovely model is a modified revival of the fashion popular during the second empire.

The material used is pale coral pink tulle over white liberty satin.

The low round décolletage is finished by a frill of finely pleated lace, here and there nestling among the billowy folds is a pink rose.

The waistband and flat bow at the back are fashioned of deeper coral velvet.

Tucked in the belt is a bunch of roses, which trail sometimes beneath and sometimes outside the billows of tulle.

The sleeves must be embroidered, as they are lightly wired to cause the gauzy folds to extend away from the arms.

This is an entirely new feature in fashion after a season devoted to straight, clinging lines.

THINK IT OVER

Would the ablest business men in the country have a bank account if there was no advantage or convenience in it? Would they have been able to reach their present commanding position if they had spent half their time worrying about the safety of the money they had made?

invites you to open an account as they did. The same advantages they found in so doing will accrue to you if you accept the invitation.

on the corner of the large family circle

YOUR BOY.
L. D. HANSEN.

Not all the treasures of wealth and grace,
Were they down before you cast,
Would you take for one smile of your darling's face,
Did you know it would be the last.
Not all the gems of the richest mart,
The treasures of sea or shore,
Would buy one throb of that loving heart,
Did you know it would beat no more.

Purchase the day may sometime come
When your darling is lying low,
And you, in a saddened, empty home,
To your duties listless go,
Ah, how will it soothe the weary mind,
And soften your grief and woe,
To know that your words have been soft and kind
To your boy that is lying low!

And to know as you stood by his ridge
of clay,
As the sun was going down,
You had succeeded the life of the child's brief day,
With a smile, instead of a frown!
O, gentle mother, while he is given
As a precious gift to you,
Give to your boy a taste of heaven,
By a love that is warm and true!
Chicago, Ill.

THE REAL TEST.
In doing what you do today,
Think not what the world will say;
The world is much to busy
In dwelling on its own affairs
To bother with your little cares—
The ones that make you busy.

Purchase your daily needs of life,
Whether it be of joy or strife,
Of pleasure or of sorrow,
All other things clean forget,
Concentrate yourself along with what You'll think yourself tomorrow Exchange.

AFTER THE BURIAL.
By JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.
By faith is a goodly anchor,
When skies are swept as a palm,
At the hour it tells us staidly,
In bliss, broad-shouldered calm.

And when over breakers to forward
The tattered verges are hoisted,
I may keep my head to the tempest,
With its grip on the base of the world.

But, after the shipwreck, tell me
What help to its torn tawny,
Still true to the broken bower, Harp down among the sea-weed and oars?

In the breaking gulfs of sorrow,
When the helpless feet stretch out
And find in the deeps of darkness,
No feeling so cold as doubt,

And better one year of memory,
The broken plank of the Past,
That our human heart may cling to,
Tougher than steel, or stone at last!

Do speak its splendid conjectures,
To the dead its sweet despair,
A tears o'er the thin worn locket
With its anguish of countless care!

emerald! I feel and know it,
Who doubt it of such as shed at that is the pang's very secret—Immortal away from me.

There's a narrow ridge in the grave yard
Would scarce stay a child in his race, at to me and my thought it is wider Than the starry venge of space.

our hope, my friend, is perfect,
That create most deadly times at, above the earth, stretched on her bed,
Keep bearing that, and out you come!

could it you with, I can bear it,
The a well content alone of breath as not all the presiding ones Adam Has made death other than Death.

What Will the Baking Be?

If you have used William Tell Flour it will be bread that is good as most cake—cake that is a miracle of tender lightness—pastry that melts in your mouth.

Our own special process, latest improved machinery, perfect organization, selected Ohio
Red Winter Wheat, makes William
Tell the ideal flour.

It is also the most economical—makes the most loaves to the sack.

Have it in readiness for your next baking. Re-

NORMAN WATERFORD.

Mr. Henry Davis, who has been ill for some time, died suddenly Saturday morning. Mrs. Davis had not been considered seriously ill and news of her death was a shock to many friends.
The funeral was from her late home and she was laid to rest in Woodlawn cemetery, North Waterford. Much sympathy is felt for the aged husband, who is in poor health, and the sons and daughters who have lost a good mother.
Mrs. Davis was an esteemed member of the Evangelical Church and Waterford Grange and as long as she was able always took an active interest in the two societies.

Mrs. Harry Brown will entertain the Ladies Circle at her home Tuesday, August 27. All are cordially invited to attend.

The road commissioner is again at work on the roads. He is now grading the road each side of the town bridge about last year.

Dr. Goodridge has traded his automobile for a new car. J. L. Tabbs has also traded his for a better one.

William Ray has bought an automobile.

Mrs. Ethel Jones was visited by her father, A. D. Holgate of Norway Lake, Monday.

Thomas Gray is at Dr. F. M. Cool-idge's.

W. F. Perkins, wife and children,
M. F. Knight and son Ralph visited Mrs. Knight, Sunday at Bethel Sanatorium.

Hattie Glover is working for Mrs.
Hazel Young.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holgate are having a vacation. They will visit Mr.
Holgate's brother at Waterbury and then to attend one or two fairs during the absence.

J. W. Thayer and wife attended a "Whitemore" picnic at a farm a short time, Sunday, on the lake.

SHUT OUT THE ALPS.
They were on a trip in Switzerland and had that day braved all the dangers and ascended one of the highest peaks in the Alps.

He was very fat, and as he stood peering and mopping his brow at the top of the mountain he turned to his wife and said, with pathos in his voice:

"Hear, dear, how small one is in the face of the immensity of nature!"
"Small, indeed!" answered the better half. "Why, you're standing in front of me, being the whole of Mount Blanc and the best part of the valley of 'campania'!"—Midweek News.
